FULTON NEWS.

Several carpenters, painters and decorator will find work to do in Fulton nextweek, for last night was Valentine Night and Friday night was Valentine Eve.

The occasion is looked for with unusual interest by the boys of Fulton, for it means a great time for them.

As soon as it became dark last night bricks and rocks of all sizes and shapes began to thump against the doors. Gates were removed from their hinges, window blinds were broken, and comic valentines of every description were lodged upon the porches of the residents. The fun was kept up until a late hour.

Mr. Shurm was busy loading his double wagon, when the animals attached became frightened and dashed off at a lively gait. Mr. Shurm attempted to stop the team, and in so doing he was thrown to the ground and the heavy wheels of the wagon passed over his body. He was assisted to his home and medical assistance summoned. After an examination his physician discovered that three ribs had been broken and he was painfully injured about the body.

Mr. John B. Myers, a prominent contractor of this city and a well known citizen of Fulton, and Miss Pinky Fossett were quietly married last week by Rev. John Hannon at his residence. Mr. and Mrs. Myers will reside in Fulton.

At the residence of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Jolly, of Graham Sireet, on Thursday evening, their daughter, Miss Ada Jolly, became the wice of Mr. Charles E. Jackson. The ceremony was performed by Rev. W. S. Leake, pastor of Fulton Baptist Church.

The splendid revival that has been in progress at Denny-Street M. E. Church this week will continue through next week. The meeting is one of the best in the history of the church. There have been a large number of converts and offers for prayer have been exceedingly large. Mr. Shurm was busy loading his double

APPETITE COAXING.

Not Necessary When Proper Food is Used.

Coaxing up an appetite is hard work and unnecessary when a little thought is given to scientific feeding.

is given to scientific feeding.

Fill the stomach with the wrong stuff and it is not long before the palate, too, is affected and even the sight of food is nauseating. Stomach and nervous ills of all kinds soon come and the body is left without nourishment.

Then take on Grape-Nuts for a few days and see the difference. Eating is no longer a duty, but a delight, for the food is made of the proper grains prepared in a natural, scientific manner and the flavor is delictous. The case of a schoolma'am of Cedar Mills, Minn., is interesting. She writes: "I used to go without lunch many a day, not finding it tasty. In consequence, I usually had a severe headache before the afternoon session was over and felt nervous noon session was over and felt nervous

Miss Julia D. Shore the Bride of Mr

Wade Hampton Arwood.
The marriage of Miss Julia Dupuy Shore, one of Richmond's most attractive young ladies, and the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Shore, of No. 110 North and Mrs. R. E. Shore, of No. 110 North Elghth Street, and Mr. Wade Hampton Arwood, a very popular and rising young business man of Lynchburg. Va., took place on Wednesday, the 11th, at 230 A. M., by the Rev. Tunis Hamila, D. D., pastor of the Church of the Covenant.

The ceremony took place in the elegant home of Mrs. Marshail, formerly of this city. The bride was becomingly attired in a handsome blue cloth traveling suit, hat and gloves to match, and carried a lovely boliquet of bride's roses tied with long streamers of white satin ribbon.

Her maid of honor was Mrs. Ella haarshail, who also wore a tailor-made suit. The groom's best man was Mr. Steel, of Richmond. The bride was attended by her cousin, Miss Lulu Pierce.

Amid showers of rice and good wishes the happy couple left on the 10 o'clock train, visiting Baltimore, Old Point, and Disputanta, the home of the groom's parents. Their presents were numerous and handsome.

BLECTED A TRUSTEE.

Dr. Curry retired from his professorably to accept the general agency and supervision of the munificent gift of George Peabody to Sowthern education, and this position he held until his death. Immediately following his withdrawal from the faculty, he was elected a trustee of the College. The next year he succeeded Mr. James Thomas, Jr., as president of the Board of Trustees, and stood at the head of the board, except during his stay in Spain as American minister, until 1897. He was thus officially connected with the College from 1888 to the date of his death. Every interest of the College found in him an able advocate, but he was never more eloquent than when urging the importance of providing at the College fealilities for technical instruction. Other great educational enterprises claimed part of Dr. Curry's time and thought, among them the Slater Fund and the Southern and General Education Boards. In the organization of the last two he had important part and was their chief adviser.

rich culture and high Christian ence, rich culture and high Christian character. Already he was one of the foremost men of the country. To Richmond College he gave without stint both his energy and his love. As was to be expected, his success was immediate and brilliant. The details of class-room work may sometimes have been distasteful to him, but he inspired his students, and revealed to them their own possibilities. They found themselves face to face with a great personality, and his lowing sym-to be sent to its final resting place at Hollywood Cemeiery, The service was conducted by Dr. W. W. Landrum, pas-tyr of the First Baptist Courch of Alanta, Swope, D. D., of All-Souls' Church, Entmore.

A special car for the funeral cortege had been provided, and was attached to passenger train No. 12, leaving here at 3.50 o'clock.

The pall-bearers were Colonel Charles
W. Woolsey, Rev. Thomas Lawrence, Colonel Robert Bingham, Hon. C. J. Harris,
A. L. Lyman, Professor R. J. Tighe, Dr.
C. L. Minor, D. C. Waddell, Jr.

The body was accompanied to Richmond by Major and Mrs. Manley B. Curry, Miss Mary Lamar Turpin, Mrs. Mary Connelly
Coxe, Mrs, Thomas P. Cheesoorough, Mrs.
Walter C. Andrews, Hon. Richmond Pearson, Dr. W. W. Lenurum and Dr. Glenn, of Atlanta. They found themselves face to face with a great personality, and his loving, sympathetic heart drew them and hound them to him with indissoluble bonds. Subsequently, and in connection with his work in English, Dr. Curry taught philosophy, and for two years delivered courses of lectures on constitutional and international law in the recently founded law school of the College. One who knew him well says that Dr. Curry's popularity at Richmond College was unbroken from the day of his inauguration to his resignation, on the 7th of February, 1881.
